

NEW YEAR MESSAGE

Members, friends and supporters of Motec Life UK,
As the year 2011 comes to an end, we realise it has been a difficult but extraordinarily busy and fulfilled one. With perseverance, great strides have been made and we have accomplished more this year than we ever dreamed of.

We are treading paths that will take medical, para-medical and nursing education in Ghana to new heights in the very near future. The new collaborations with educational and training institutions such as the Ghana College of Physicians and Surgeons, the Ghana Medical School, Korle-Bu Teaching Hospital, the Military Hospital, the Ghana Registered Nurses Association, The London School of Postgraduate Surgery, and the Association of Anaesthetists of Great Britain, will pave the way for a broader and more effective impact on health care in Ghana. We all have to congratulate ourselves on a job well started.

But... this is not where it ends. There is much more to do to see our goals come to true fruition. This needs continued passion and commitment from all of us. There will be challenges especially in the current economic climate with sponsorships, investments in human and material resources, but we are armed with the kind hearted support from you all, the people of Ghana, Great Britain and the international community.

In the newyear, we hope to continue our good work. We will be encouraging educational workshops for our volunteers, in order to equip ourselves with the knowledge and skills, to improve our efficiency in delivering our services to the target population in Ghana. Some may be organised in-house and others elsewhere in the United Kingdom.

We shall endeavour to foster productive relationships with the international sponsors such as the International Organisation for Migration. We will work closely with the Ministry of Health, and Government officials in Ghana, in order to maximise the impact of our ideas and experiences, for the benefit of all peoples in Ghana.

We encourage members with special skills and organisational experiences to take 'ownership' of projects and develop them safely and responsibly. We exhort you all to continue to make in-puts into our educational programmes, raise funds for our ongoing projects and to carry the banner for quality patient care par excellence for the people of Ghana and our base country the United Kingdom.

We wish you a joyful blessed Christmas and a peaceful happy new year. We look forward to your renewed commitment and generosity in the year 2012.

The Presidency, Motec Life – UK
